Formative Assessment in Practice – Shaping Student Learning

In this course, we will examine what formative assessment is, why it is important, and how it can be implemented in our classrooms. As part of the course, you will encounter examples of practice, discuss and interact with peers, and prepare a lesson plan for use in your teaching.

As a participant, you will:

- Understand what formative assessment is
- Understand why formative assessment can help student learning
- Understand how formative assessment can help develop personalised learning
